

I am very happy with Indiana's No Call List; prior to signing up I was getting 2, 3, even 5 calls each DAY from telemarketers. I had actually turned off the ringers on my phones so I would not be bothered, letting the answering machine do all the work.

If you reduce the effectiveness of Indiana's No Call List, I will probably cancel my phone service altogether - I don't need phone service bad enough to put up with the harrassment of telemarketers, many of whom don't know the meaning of the word NO!

Please do not give telemarketers the right to harrass people in their own homes!
